MENDING BROKEN OFFENSES

Some people I know think MAD is unethical and doesn't have correct political satire. Do you have any suggestions for them?

Brad Lindblad, West Fargo, ND

Lucky Lindy — Are you aware that your name is a tongue twister? Go ahead, try saying it three times fast! As for those politically correct people you know, the next time they say something like that just flip them the bird! —Ed.

PROBST AND CONS

In your "Celebrity Cause-of-Death Betting Odds" for MAD #401 I thought a celebrity was supposed to be someone well known. Who is Jeff Probst? I never heard of him until I read your magazine. Is he in sports, show business, politics or what?

Jim Davis, Via E-mail

Jimmy — We forwarded your letter to Jeff Probst. He says he's never heard of you, either! Eerie. —Ed.

HOW TO REACH US
Please Address Correspondence
To: MAD, Dept. 404, 1700
Broadway, New York, New York

submissions. Manuscripts will not be returned or acknowledged, however, unless they are accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope! MAD doesn't read faxed submissions!

DENMARK'S THE SPOT

In MAD #401 you made two errors. First off, Lars Ulrich of Metallica is from Denmark, not Belgium. Secondly, there is no such thing as a 10-minute major game misconduct in hockey ("MAD's Parental Etiquette Guide for Kids' Sporting Events"). It's a five-minute major game misconduct or simply a match penalty for attempt to injure.

Mark W. Frere, Winnipeg, Canada

Marky Mark — You are sort of correct. Lars Ulrich is from Denmark. And to be perfectly honest, when we were writing that piece we didn't have a globe, but Belgium, Sweden Denmark, it's all just one big place where they wear socks with sandals, listen to ABBA and act as if it's still the 1970s! Also, you are dead wrong that Lars ever played professional hockey. Thanks for writing! —Ed.

NAPSTER-ING UP TROUBLE

I enjoyed reading issue #401 which featured "The MAD 20." I was especially intrigued by your comments about Napster. A friend of mine came over to visit and I caught him reading the MAD that I had purchased. Remembering your MAD equations (Taking + Paying = Buying. Taking - Paying = Stealing.), I quickly called the police and had him arrested since he didn't pay for the magazine (and I did). He was obviously stealing, right? I decided that wasn't enough. In the interest of copyright infringement, I went to the public library and had everybody there who was reading a magazine or newspaper arrested too. I also had the people reading books hauled away just to be sure. After all, none of them paid for the privilege of reading. Thank you for setting a legal precedent. In closing, I feel I should add that if you decide to print this letter in your publication, I am entitled to a percentage of every issue you sell. Otherwise, you're stealing from me, correct?

John Bohlmann, Portland, OR

Johnny — Thank you for your excellent letter. We have taken the liberty of forwarding it to Metallica drummer Lars Ulrich. However, since your letter was not in Lars' native Swedish tongue, don't expect an answer anytime soon. In the meantime, we applaud your efforts and give you kudos in getting everyone to read their own issue of MAD. These kudos are in lieu of any actual monetary compensation for your contributions to this Letters Page. —Ed.

IN ONE YEAR AND OUT THE OTHER

I noticed a mistake in your 400th issue. On page three, on the calendar for December 26th, you stated that the "Fourth Wise Man arrives at stable, misses whole thing." This is incorrect, because scholars have found out that Jesus Christ was actually born in 6 B.C. and they based their calendar on 00 A.D., six years after Jesus' actual birth. If they had corrected it and set the time back six years, the world would be in complete chaos. So, the bottom line is, you guys goofed, and Jesus was actually born in 6 B.C., not 00 A.D.

This is the story of a busy man who absolutely, positively lived by the clock until he got stranded...for years! The audience watching this movie got stranded too, for what seemed like years! People leaving the theater said they now know what eternity will feel like once they've...

PASSED AWAY

What a lonely, God forsaken place! No signs of civilization! No signs of intelligent life! Actually — not unlike Memphis!

Hmmm! I'm wondering what the zip code is here! Never mind that! I've got bigger fish to fry! And that's one of my problems! Will there be fish to fry?

I must meet the basic needs of survival! Will there be food? Will there be fire and water? My biggest fear? Will I be running into a naked fat guy named Richard Hatch?!

ARTIST: MORT DRUCKER

WRITER: ARNIE KOGEN

All my life I've been connected! Now I'm disconnected!
No e-mail! No faxes! I've got to survive on basics:
Find shelter, spear fish, shape wood into weapons!
But first, let me check the other side of the island!
Maybe, just maybe...there's a Kinko's!

Whoops! Another movie heard from —
You've Got Mail!

There's a name for what's happening here!
Some people may call it a stroke of luck!
Actually, it's called product placement! This film is a two-hour advertisement for FedEx!

Let's see...videotapes, a volleyball, women's ice skates! This dopey stuff can't possibly help a guy stranded alone on a deserted island! If only the tide would bring in an "inflatable woman"!

This morning I yelled at a coconut and then I chased a mollusk! It's interminable! I keep looking into the horizon and hoping for the one thing that can save me — if only a new script would wash ashore!

Hmm! A message in a bottle! No way! I've got enough troubles! The last thing I need is to be involved in a horrible
Kevin Costner movie!

This is a masterful one-man performance!
I'm carrying the weight of the film on my shoulders! And, obviously, my gut! I heard the crew yelling, "Whale ho!" I realized it was me they were referring to!

Finally, a companion! I've painted a face on a volleyball!
For the next 90 minutes you're going to be my new best friend! We will chat, we will bond! I'm going to spend the movie talking to an inanimate co-star! I haven't experienced this since Meg Ryan in Sleepless In Seattle!

FOUR YEARS LATER

The Ballot Hymn

*Mine eyes have seen the folly
that began election night,
When the anchors at the networks
blew projections left and right;
Many viewers called them morons,
which seems overly polite —
But still they blundered on!*

*"Sor-ry," they informed the na-tion,
"Just...a minor aberr-a-tion,
"Based...on faulty informa-tion!"
All night they blundered on!*

*It would all come down to Florida,
with Bush a hair ahead;
But then came alarming news which filled the Democrats with dread;
Ballots punched for Pat Buchanan were not kosher, it was said —
A state of war was on!*

*Troub-le, trouble now was brew-ing,
When...the votes the Dems were view-ing;
Came...the cry, "We got a screw-ing!"
An all-out war was on!*

*Seems the ballot called the "butterfly"
had caused an awful mess, Losing many votes for Gore, which caused him sorrow and distress;
The designer of the ballot
was a Democrat, no less —
The race kept lurching on!*

*Dems...said votes had been denied...them,
Claimed...the state had misapplied...them;
Kath-rine Harris certified...them —
The race kept lurching on!*

of The Republic

*"Just check out the chads," cried Gore,
"they're votes for me without a doubt!"
But the GOP responded with a most defiant shout —
Even though we are pro-life,
the pregnant ones must be thrown out!"
The ballot war raged on!*

*Count-ing, counting, never end-ing,
Still...no one was comprehend-ing
What...the voters were intend-ing —
The ballot war raged on!*

*Weary workers kept on counting,
piling ballots into stacks,
Facing Right Wing mobs who blocked
the doors with pre-arranged attacks;
Jesse Jackson paid a visit and stirred up the local blacks —
Both parties blun-dered on!*

*Day and night...they agitat-ed;
In...the streets they demonstrat-ed
While...the nation vainly wait-ed —
Both parties blun-dered on!*

*Next, platoons of high-priced lawyers faced the courts and made their pleas;
With the fat cats in both parties
digging deep to pay their fees;
They will get repaid with sweetheart deals, but, hell, that's normal sleaze —
The ar-gu-ments droned on!*

*Bor-ing, bor-ing litiga-tion,
Like...a case of constipa-tion,
Worse...than baseball arbitra-tion —
The ar-gu-ments droned on!*

Judges holding court in Florida were sharp as they could be,
Manifesting all the wisdom
of a wrestling referee;
But, gee whiz, they got their faces
seen on national TV!
The court fight staggered on!

Day by day...we watched and wait-ed,
And...one fact can now be stated:
Court TV is over-rat-ed —
How long could it...go...on?

Soon, the judges made their rulings,
which were strange, to say the least;
And it's doubtful that we'll ever know how many palms got greased;
'Course, with Bush or Gore the choices,
it's the country that got fleeced —
For weeks they flound-ered on!

"Save us, save us!" Dems were plead-ing;
"Can't...you see that Bush is lead-ing?"
"If...the hand-counts ain't proceed-ing,
"Our one last hope...is...gone!"

All the counties stopped their counting,
which cheered up the GOP;
Grumbled Gore, "I had it won until the High Court clobbered me;"
Though, of course, it might have helped if he had carried Tennessee —
His fi-nal chance was gone!

Rehnquist, Thomas and Scal-i-a —
Hot...for Bush, we'll guaran-tee ya
Shaft...ed Gore and hollered, "See ya!"
His fi-nal chance was gone!

So, congratulations, George,
you somehow found a way to win;
You have squeaked into the White House
by a margin razor-thin;
You will serve a single term,
then lose when Hillary gets in —
Four years, and you'll...be...gone!

Glory! Glory! No more wait-ing!
No...more endless tabulat-ing!
No...more talking heads debat-ing!
Some-how we'll stag-ger on!

IN OUR LAST EPISODE...

AARGH!
GET A MOVE ON AND GET THIS THING OUT OF ME!

NO PROBLEM! YOU COULD DELIVER SHAQUILLE O'NEAL THROUGH THIS ABYSS! OKAY... HERE WE GO... IT'S...

...A BRAND NEW BABY BOY!

HE'S BEAUTIFUL!

NOW THIS IS A SON WORTH SAVING OUR MARRIAGE FOR!

POUND!
POUND!

AND NOW THE THRILLING CONCLUSION OF...

Monty and... THE SPECIAL DELIVERY

OKAY, DOLL, WE'RE ALL SET.

YOU PAID THE BILL?

SORTA. I GAVE THOSE SUCKERS A POST-DATED THIRD-PARTY CHECK. LISTEN, NEXT TIME DO ME A FAVOR AND TRY TO HAVE THE KID IN THE CAR ON THE WAY OVER. I COULDA BOUGHT A BOAT WITH ALL THAT DOUGH.

I HEAR THAT.

ARE YOU GUYS REALLY GETTING BACK TOGETHER?

YOUR FATHER AND I ARE GOING TO TAKE THINGS SLOW.

YEAH, SLOW UNTIL THE RUM STARTS FLOWING!

I HEAR THAT.

BUT TO ANSWER YOUR QUESTION, YES, WE OWE IT TO THIS LITTLE GUY TO TRY AND MAKE IT WORK!

HOW COME YOU NEVER TRIED TO MAKE IT WORK FOR ME?

OH, WE DID! BUT IN THE END, WE REALIZED YOU WERE THE MAIN REASON WE SPLIT UP IN THE FIRST PLACE!

I HEAR THAT.

MAYBE YOU SHOULD CUT DOWN ON YOUR PAIN KILLERS, MOM.

OKAY, LET'S HEAR EVERYONE'S CHOICES...

IN MY DAY, YOU GAVE A KID A GOOD BIBLICAL NAME. I'M GOING WITH "DEUTERONOMY"!

GREAT. WHY DON'T YOU JUST TATTOO "JESUS FREAK" ON HIS DAMN FACE! "ADOLPH"!... NOW THERE'S A GOOD NAME!

I SAY WE GO WITH "PUKE-O"! DID YOU SEE WHAT HE DID TO MY SWEATSHIRT?

OKAY, OKAY, BOYS. I GUESS IT'S UP TO MOMMY TO NAME HIM. WE'LL CALL HIM...

...PERRY!

"PERRY"?!

YES, PERRY! IT SMACKS OF NOBILITY! BESIDES, THAT WAS THE NAME OF THE MAN WHO TOOK MY VIRGINITY-- MY FIRST AND ONLY TRUE LOVE!

"TRUE LOVE" HELL! HE WAS YOUR HIGH SCHOOL GYM COACH!

ANYWAY, MONROE, NOW THAT PERRY HAS A NEW NAME, HE'LL NEED A FEW OTHER NEW THINGS! SO I NEED YOU TO PICK UP SOME SHEETS, BLANKETS, A TEDDY BEAR, SHIRTS, PANTS, SOCKS, SIPPY CUPS AND DIAPERS!

HOW AM I SUPPOSED TO PAY FOR ALL THAT?

USE YOUR ALLOWANCE-- REMEMBER, WE'RE ALL GOING TO HAVE TO PITCH IN NOW THAT LITTLE PERRY'S HERE. WE CAN'T ALWAYS COUNT ON YOUR FATHER WINNING AT THE TRACK!

OH, WHICH REMINDS ME, CAN YOU ALSO PICK UP SOME SWABS? I'LL NEED YOU TO CLEAN OUT MY BREAST MILK PUMP!

THIS SUCKS. THIS REALLY, REALLY SUCKS!

Bill Wray

Ah, baseball's spring training camps! The crack of the bat...the sound of the ball hitting the supple leather of the glove...and the dream that maybe this year will be the year your team makes it all the way to the World Series. Well, if you live in a major TV market with a team owner who's shelled out tens of millions for mediocre players and hundreds of millions for egotistical, pampered "superstars," that's your dream. For the rest of you suckers, get ready to suffer through another year of watered-down expansion baseball played by a bunch of disgruntled wannabes! But in the interest of you remaining few cockeyed optimists who still believe your lousy team has a shot at the Fall Classic, we present...

Clear-Cut Clues Your Team's Not Going to Win the Pennant!

Your second baseman is so slow, he often finds himself "tarped" long before he realizes it's a rain delay.

Your first baseman is often referred to as "The Amish Carl Yastrzemski."

The Disabled List is littered with Fungo-related mishaps.

Clear-Cut Clues Your Team's Not Going to Win the Pennant!

Your manager's use of the confusing "butterfly" lineup card often results in three guys trying to bat eighth.

Other teams have fans in the stands who keep track of their pitcher's strikeouts with "K" signs. You've got a guy who chronicles your shortstop's errors.

When a guy in the stands catches a foul ball in his beer cup and the TV announcer bellows "sign that man up!" — they do.

Fans arrive early at the ballpark, not to see towering batting practice homeruns, but to wager on the number of wind-sprint-induced dry heaves.

The manager's calls to the bullpen are "screened" and not returned for days.

The groundskeeper uses your team's at-bats to mow the outfield.

The outfield defensive alignment is predicated on catching the best rays.

Instead of lively infield chatter, show tunes in four-part harmony.

A MAD LOOK AT THE

PRESIDENCY

NOW — THROUGH THE WONDER OF HYPNOSIS, YOU CAN LOSE WEIGHT!*

(*and a fair amount of money)

Maybe you've experienced a few telltale signs that you're gaining unwanted weight. Your pants fit a bit tighter. You have to open your belt another notch. The only way you can fit through a doorway is sideways. When you arrive at the airport for your flight, you're put in the cargo hold. The Department of Transportation requires you to wear a "Wide Load" sign on your butt. Subtle indicators? Yes. But they are warning signals that you're gaining weight.

Then the question arises, "How do I shed those extra ounces, pounds and tons?" Anyone who's tried to lose weight knows what a struggle it can be. Consciously, we want to slim down, but it's our donut-devouring, fat-loving subconscious mind that sabotages even our best intentions. But NOW you can forever conquer your bad habits with the help of MODERN hypnosis, a hypnosis so modern that you're hypnotized with a digital watch, not one of those old-fashioned ones with the annoying hands that go around and around!

"I felt like a giant weight had been lifted when the doctor got off me!"

— Neve Large-Nostrils, Tickton, ME

best intentions and insists you eat half the box. Meanwhile, the "fat-pig" side of you insists you eat the other half.

But with MODERN hypnosis, we reprogram those destructive inclinations and replace them with subtle, healthier thoughts. Then, when you're tempted to pig out, these subtle, healthier thoughts kick in:

- "My wife put just enough poison in the pie she baked to cause me a slow, agonizing death."
- "The chef dropped the steak I've just been served on the dirty kitchen floor while cooking it."
- "There's rat droppings in the brownies."

Amazingly, you'll find that just thinking these subtle, yet potent thoughts goes a long way toward cutting down on your appetite.

"They broke every bad eating habit I had, and even some I didn't have!"

— Dave Gravy, Chumpville, OH

"They can help you build self-esteem, no matter how big of a cow you are!"

— Helga Drainington, Upchuck, PA

Dr. Spellbound has over 15 years experience in making this idiotic expression.

Old myths about hypnosis are fading, and a more educated public is embracing entirely new myths about hypnosis. At the forefront of these unbelievable new myths is Dr. Richard Spellbound, Executive Director of Dramatic Changes, whose far-fetched hypnosis therapy has been adopted by some of the world's most respected hospitals, including The Betty Fraud Clinic, Mount Cyanide and Our Lady of the Hopelessly Chubby.

The most common misconception about hypnosis is that it can make a person do something against their will. But the truth is, as Dr. Spellbound always says, "We can't get people to do anything they don't want to do! That's why we require payment for the entire treatment program before the first visit!"

Hypnosis is considered by many to be a sensible alternative to conventional medical treatment, superior even to leeches or cutting off limbs to reduce weight. Dr. Spellbound's approach is totally comprehensive and includes mind, body, spirit, drugs, alcohol and expert insurance company fraud.

Dr. Spellbound is so convinced his treatment is your solution to losing weight that he makes this iron-clad guarantee: "If after just one session you feel that MODERN hypnosis is not right for you, I will put you in a trance and make you think that you've received A FULL REFUND!"

Not convinced yet?
Then stare into
this circle,
deep into
this circle.

You are growing tired, your sales resistance is fading... fading... fading. Feel yourself falling... falling... falling for anything.

Now pick up that phone and call 1-555-LOSELARD. And have your credit card number handy! We're hypnotists, not mind readers!

A MAD AD PARODY

Thanks to hypnosis, in the first session alone, this patient will leave about five pounds lighter!

In last year's presidential election debates, George W. accused Al Gore of "fuzzy math." While no one was quite sure what that term meant, it caught on, along with "Whaasuuup?" and "Who let the dogs out?" as one of the more annoyingly repeated phrases of the year. So what exactly does it mean? We sent a fax to Fed Chairman and numbers guru Alan Greenspan and asked him for an informed explanation. Since he never responded, we were forced to come up with our own theory...

but continues to put the word "cheap" after the price.

College life just wouldn't be the same without all the great people you meet. And who could be more important than that special person you share your dorm room with for semester after glorious semester? You could forge a bond of friendship that lasts a lifetime. But chances are, it'll go more like...

MAD'S COLLEGE

ARTIST: TERRY LABAN

WRITER: KENNY BYERLY

Arrive in dorm room. Meet roommate, who has already moved in and claimed all shelf space and both closets.

Eat meals together because you haven't bothered to meet anyone with whom you have something remotely in common.

Begin to realize that roommate never intends to pick up the cereal and milk he spilled on floor on Day 7.

Courteously wait an extra hour for roommate to come back for dinner, only to learn that he's met someone with whom he does have something remotely in common, and has been at the dining hall, eating.

Clean up cereal mess because you can't stand to look at it any longer. Quietly seethe.

First midterm. Roommate plays computer games nonstop as you attempt to study.

ROOMMATE TIMELINE

Day 67

Catch roommate wearing your clothes and demand that he return them immediately. He gives them back a week later without laundering them.

Roommate insists on leaving window open all night, causing you to get ill before midterms.

Day 55

You bring date back to room; hint strongly at desire for privacy, only to be ignored.

Day 66

Realize your roommate has been using your computer when you discover that your hard drive now contains 10 gigabytes of hardcore pornography and a crippling computer virus.

Day 62

Roommate brings date back to room. You stay, just for spite...and wish you hadn't.

Day 41

While re-heating Super-Caf-Triple-Mocha Latte in forbidden hot pot, roommate blows fuse to room just before you save your term paper on your hard drive.

MAD'S COLLEGE ROOMMATE TIMELINE

Day 77

Retaliate at roommate for open window incident by spitting germ-infested saliva on his toothbrush, only to be foiled because he never uses it.

Find out roommate's been hiding his stash on your side of the room when campus security suddenly bursts in and writes you up.

Day 82

Devise a new schedule that minimizes time spent in the room when roommate is there.

Day 81

Day 90

Return to room after renting a video, only to find that roommate has lent out your television.

Day 91

Learn that by "lent," roommate actually meant "pawned."

Day 99

During Renaissance Literature Final have series of uncontrollable fantasies in which you poison roommate with MSG from Ramen noodle packet. Fail exam.

Day 101

Move out and impetuously sign apartment lease. Later, when you do the math, you realize that you can't afford the place without a roommate to share the rent.

The time was the early 1950s. The place, Greenwich, Connecticut. George and Barbara, a middle-aged couple, are busy raising their small boys, George W., Jeb and Neal and their daughter, Dorothy. They are just like any American family, right? Well, no. Actually, this well-connected WASP family is already well on its way to becoming a political family dynasty. What was it like growing up in such an environment? Join us as we take...

Causes water to splash onto your crotch, so it looks like you have the bladder control of your 97-year-old grandfather

Cranks up the volume on your radio, so when you start your car in the morning you're suddenly blasted into oblivion by teeth-rattling, brain-piercing, eardrum-damaging music

Pushes all your sheets to the bottom of the bed, so you wake up colder than Leonardo DiCaprio's frozen lifeless corpse at the end of Titanic

Makes your grandmother walk in on you while you're watching a movie with your date at the precise moment a sex scene starts

Trips you in front of a crowd of at least 45 people, so you look like a freakin' spazoid

GHOSTS

ARTIST: JAMES WARHOLA

WRITER: RYAN PAGELOW

Enjoys tormenting you by playing The "Hide-Your-Only-Working-Pen-in-the-Drawer-Full-of-Dozens-of-Dried-Up-Totally-Useless-Pens" game

Makes any shirt that looks good on you itch as if your entire back was being attacked by flesh-eating fire ants

Puts bags of repulsive barbecue popcorn that no one ever buys in front of the chips you love in the vending machine

Makes the shower either skin-numbing freezing cold or skin-disintegrating scalding hot no matter how you adjust the shower knob

Wakes you up at the wildest part of your deviant sex dream and prevents you from returning to it when you go back to sleep

PRAY AS YOU GO DEPT.

With all of the craziness going on in the world around us — planes falling from the sky, squabbles in the Middle East, Brad Pitt and Jennifer Aniston spending $80,000 for flowers at their wedding — people sometimes find it difficult to focus on what is really important in life: themselves! To help re-center their attention and build confidence, many people recite a daily affirmation — a little pseudo-prayer of a few inspirational words that they foolishly believe will help them get through their miserable day. And since no one has a tougher life than the rich and famous (Editor's note: We're being sarcastic, clod!), we offer up these...

When you wear something that advertises some company you're telling everyone you're stupid!

How do you figure?

Everyone knows you're paying twice as much for their clothes while they get free advertising! That's stupid!

Yeah, but it also makes everyone know something about me that I'd like to advertise...

That I'm making enough money to afford to do something stupid!
